Potential students under the age of 18 without a high school diploma who wish to register for classes at Lassen Community College are considered to be a special admit student. Board Policy 5010 allows concurrent enrollment for students in grades 9-12. There are specific requirements you must meet for course registration. Follow the steps to enrollment, see the checklist below.

- All special admit students who wish to enroll in a class with a lecture component must take the college assessment test. Special admit students must score at English 50, Read 51 and Math 51 level or above. See the course description in the college catalog to determine if there is a lecture component. Call (530) 251-8833 to schedule an assessment appointment. Scores will determine eligibility to enroll.

- Special admit students who wish to enroll in activity courses, which are courses without a lecture component do not require assessment.

- Parent or Legal Guardian must sign the special admit registration card giving the student permission to take courses at Lassen Community College. The card is available from the Admissions and Records Office.

- Meet with your High School Principal, High School Counselor, or Charter School Principal to select classes. Classes must be written on the special admit registration card, with section numbers and course titles. The Principal, High School Counselor, or Charter School Principal must sign the special admit card.

- A special admit student is now ready to meet with a Lassen Community College Counselor. Students are required to bring their assessment results and the special admit registration card for the counselor to review and approve. Students enrolling in 6 units or more must obtain the signature of the Chief Student Services Officer.

- Home School students must provide a current home school affidavit.

- Student must complete the LCC Application for Admission form each term.

- When the above checklist is complete, the special admit student is now able to register for classes at the Admissions and Records Office. This procedure, except for the assessment process, must be completed each semester until the student is no longer classified as a special admit student.
